

0% ADMIN FEE

EDGEN DIFFERENTIATOR

0% Admin Fee. 100% Scholarship Impact.

EdGen does not charge an administrative fee against qualified scholarship contributions. Our operating costs and overhead are covered externally, so 100% of qualified donor dollars can go directly to scholarship awards for eligible students.

0% Admin fee on qualified gifts

Every dollar of qualified scholarship contributions is intended for scholarship awards, not SGO overhead.

1 For donors

More confidence that their FSTC contribution is maximizing scholarship impact.

2 For families

More available scholarship dollars to help eligible students access the right school.

3 For schools

A clearer message for supporters: donor dollars are flowing to student awards.

Important precision

The 0% admin fee commitment means EdGen does not deduct an administrative charge from qualified scholarship contributions. Payment processor charges, legal requirements, state rules, donor documentation, and final IRS/Treasury guidance may affect implementation. EdGen will communicate any operational details clearly before accepting live contributions.

HOW IT WORKS

Operating Support Covers the Overhead

Many SGOs use a portion of contributions to pay administrative costs. EdGen is designed differently: outside operating support covers administrative costs, allowing qualified scholarship contributions to flow to awards.

Illustrative comparison

A typical admin-fee structure

100 donors give $1,700 each

$170,000 contributed

If 5% admin fee applied

$8,500 to overhead

Scholarship award pool

$161,500

EdGen 0% admin-fee model

$170,000 contributed

$0 to overhead from qualified gifts

$170,000

EdGen will maintain separate accounting and clear reporting so donors, schools, and families can understand how scholarship dollars are used.

TRANSPARENCY

What Donors Should Expect

A 0% admin-fee model works only if it is paired with strong controls, transparent reporting, and careful compliance. EdGen should communicate the following commitments clearly as the program launches.

1 No admin deduction from qualified contributions

EdGen will not deduct an SGO administrative fee from qualified scholarship contributions intended for awards.

2 Externally covered operating costs

Core administrative costs, including staffing, systems, compliance, and support, are intended to be covered through separate operating support.

3 Separate accounting

Qualified scholarship funds should be tracked separately from operating support and other funds.

4 Clear donor documentation

Donors should receive required acknowledgments and program documentation, subject to final IRS/Treasury guidance.

5 No student earmarking

Contributions may not be earmarked or set aside for a particular student.

6 Annual transparency reporting

EdGen should publish clear annual reporting on contributions, scholarships awarded, and administrative funding sources.

Good questions donors can ask

- Will 100% of my qualified contribution go to scholarships?
- Are operating costs covered by separate support?
- Will I receive proper FSTC documentation?
- How will EdGen report scholarship dollars and operating support?

Source note: FSTC program mechanics are subject to Internal Revenue Code Section 25F, state participation, IRS/Treasury guidance, and SGO listing. This overview describes EdGen's intended administrative-fee policy, not tax advice or a guarantee of donor tax treatment.